

DETOUR

by Christopher Dewar

Colour in this painting with the colours you think it should be. Here are some things to think about:

- Can you find this painting in the exhibition?
- What does 'Detour' mean?
- When have you had to take a detour? Sometimes making friends can be like taking a detour!
- How many colours did Christopher use in this painting?
- Are any of these colours "louder" than the others?
- The painted white background helps to make the shapes "float". If you stare at the painting do the shapes look like they are moving? Are they moving quickly or slowly?

DID YOU KNOW?

Abstract comes from the Latin word abstractus, which means "pull away" or "detached".

What do you think abstract art is pulling away from or detaching from?
